

Think getting a colonoscopy
is uncomfortable?

Try telling your family
you have cancer.

You're too busy. You don't like doctors. You're embarrassed. If you're over 50, whatever excuse you've used to put off getting a colonoscopy, you may need to rethink things. Why? Because 90% of colorectal cancers are curable when diagnosed early. Because colonoscopies are highly effective in detecting polyps before they turn cancerous. And because the latest medical knowledge and new technologies are allowing experienced Crozer-Keystone gastrointestinal specialists to perform colonoscopies and provide treatment more efficiently and less intrusively than ever before. Do it for yourself. Do it for the people you love.
